The OSBOURNE FAMILY

HANNAH Osborne and George Stedman of Charlestown were married April 4, 1674. She married second, Thomas Barber. She was a widow in 1691 when the estate was administered.

She held 20 acres of land in Andover, inventoried at L 26. Her children were :-

William(2)
Hannah (2)
Sarah (2)
Mary (2)

(See Wynne.)

Referring to the statement of Bogue (History First Baptist Church of Boston) that Thomas Osborn was "son-in-law" of Thomas Gould. Son-in-law, may mean step-son. Gould had a second wife Mary. It is barely possible Bogue found something in the church records to indicate this kinship, and Gould may have been older than I think.

As I think it over, is it not possible that Thomas Osborn also had a son Ephraim, who was the one who married Jane Matson in 1697 ? The Ephraim, son of John, after the death of his "mother" may have gone where he was less known, and the younger Ephraim coming on have been confused with the elder one.

Of course this is all speculation, and merely suggests possibilities. The children of this Ephraim Osborn were:

Sarah ,	baptized	Sept.	25,	1698
Abigail,	born	May	15,	1701
Mary,	"	Aug.	16,	1703
Jane,	"	Dec.	3,	1705
Ephraim,	"	Sept.	-	1708
Thomas ,	"	Feb.	24,	1711/12.

These names are suggestive.

THE OSBOURNE FAMILY

Oct. 30, 1915.

Miss Charlotte H. Abbott,
Andover, Mass.

My dear Miss Abbott:-

Almost a dozen years ago we had some correspondence relating to the possible identity of one Thomas Osborn, who, the Billerica, Mass. records say, was "living with Timothy Brooks" when he was "warned", Nov. 17, 1676. Also the Abigail Osborn who on July 18, 1678 married Isaac Fox. In your searching you had sifted it down to what you deemed two possibilities; that this was Thomas (1) Osborn, the Baptist agitator of Malden and Charlestown--or possibly his son--and that the Abigail Osborn was the daughter of said Thomas (1) Osborn. Or that said Thomas Osborn and Abigail Osborn were the children of the John (1) and Mary Osborn of Weymouth, and later, as indicated by Wyman, of Norwich, Conn. This last, because his wife Mary and son Ephraim came up to Charlestown, Mass. before 1678, and she (Mary) died there May 1, 1678, and the town helped pay for her coffin; and the son Ephraim--or as you thought, possibly his son of same name--married Oct. 20, 1697, Jane Matson, etc. You thought it not unlikely that Mary Osborn was accompanied by other children, among them the Thomas and Abigail Osborn who later found a home with Timothy (2) Brooks, or some of his neighbors. You were also inclined to believe that there were two Thomas Osborns contemporary at Charlestown, one with wife Sarah, the other with wife Hannah--a conclusion that the confused statements of Savage and Wyman, et al. made seem very probable.

An intermittent study of this problem during the intervening years has not brought out a definite result; but it has removed some of the confusion and narrowed down to a smaller area. First; a thorough sifting of the original records--setting Savage and Wyman aside--has convinced me that there was but one Thomas Osborn in Charlestown, and he with a wife Sarah. There is but one mention of a Thomas Osborn with a wife Hannah in the records, viz:

"Martha Osborn daughter to Thomas Osborne and Hannah his wife borne Oct. 8, '56." (Charlestown Town Records.)

Wyman, it is true, states as follows;

"Thomas Osborn and Hannah his wife admitted from church at Malden 23 (12) 1661/2. The Annabaptists both excommunicated July 30, 1665!" Wyman here deliberately adds the wife's name "Hannah" to the original record, which merely says "Thomas Osborn and wife". It seems to me to be clearly proved that the town recorder trusted to an imperfect memory when he entered the wife as "Hannah" in the record of the child, Martha's birth. I suggest this: Thomas Gould did have wife "Hannah" at this date, and he had began his opposition to infant baptism before this date, and Thomas Osborn was evidently abetting him, and the town clerk could easily be muddled between the two agitators who were disturbing the pious serenity of the Charlestown church. There is another evident error in the records as follows;

"Sarah the wife of Wm Osburne of Charlestowne being convicted of meeting with some Quakers at Benn Bowers was admonished in Court to beware of the cussed tenants and practices of those Hereticks and to return herself to the fellowship of Gods people and attendance on his ordinances." (Copied from original docket. Entry, 6 Oct. 1663.)

In the summons of June, 1664, the names appear as follows;

"Bennannuel Bowers & his wife and the wife of Thomas Osborn are summoned to appear, etc."

And in the return of the Grand Jury, 2 (2) '67, the names are:

"Thomas golde and his wife, Benn. Powers and his wife, Thomas Osburne and his wife, Stephen Baker * * * etc."

The land records of Malden and Charlestown indicate no William Osborn, and but one Osborne, this Thomas Osborn, the Baptist. The accompanying records that I quote above, distinctly shows that the name "Wm." was an error of the recorder. It seems to me perfectly plain that the recorder made an error in entering the wife's name as "Hannah" in recording the birth of the child, Martha in 1656. Thomas Osborn's first child was named "Sarah", and it was "Sarah Osborn" who signed with the sisters of the Malden church, "28 (8) '51", to the General Court, in the interest of the Rev. Marmaduke Matthews. ("Thomas Ozban" signs with the men in the petition of "13<sup>d</sup> of ye 4 month 1651"). I feel sure in saying that there was but one Thomas Osborn to be considered in Malden and Charlestown, and that his wife was SARAH--the alleged wife "Hannah" to be considered a myth resulting from a clerical error.

Those town historians, in their superserviceable additions to the--what they indicate to be--original records, and in their half-baked guesses make a whole lot of trouble. Bogue in his History of the First Baptist Church of Boston, calls Thomas Osborn a "son-in-law" of Thomas Gould. I have not ran this down, but it does not look at all probable, as Osborn could have been but little younger than Gould--yet it may have been possible.

Now there was one Osborn that did not enter into your reckoning when you sent me your theories; Sarah Osborn married at Woburn, April 6th, 1685, Joshua Broadbent, the marshal and sheriff of New Hampshire. The Woburn records show no other Osborn there. You will note that Wyman conjectures that this Sarah Osborn was "the widow of Thomas", meaning Thomas (1) of Charlestown. Of course this is impossible; for it is evident that Thomas Osborn's wife died between March 1, 1678 and Oct. 30, 1678, and besides said Thomas (1) Osborn was living on Nantucket in Oct. 1682, and had just married Margery (Fowler) Osgood--Rowell--Colman, the widow of Thomas Coleman. (See New England Reg. Vol. 6, p. 25.). It of course was not Sarah (2) Osborn, eldest daughter of Thomas and Sarah of Charlestown, as she married April 28, 1670, Francis Shepard.

Now I have a theory, that the Thomas Osborn, "living with Timothy Brooks" in Billerica, "warned" Nov. 17, 1676, was Thomas (2) Osborn, the son of Thomas (1), of Charlestown, born at Charlestown June 26, 1649, whose history has not been traced, and that he probably died, and that this Sarah Osborn--called a "young woman" in the Woburn records, I am credibly informed,--was his widow. I suppose "young woman" would not of necessity be construed as a maid or spinster. We have to consider that Timothy Brooks lived near the Shawshin Falls, owned the mill there, and was but a mile west of the then west boundary of Woburn. I suppose that Timothy Brooks probably operated the mill and had a man, or men in his employ. The tax-list of 1677 indicates that this Thomas Osborn of Billerica was a man of a family, as the list giving the names ends with, "and their families." Timothy Brooks was one of those families who left Billerica when the Indian scare was on, and it was possibly then when Thomas Osborn left, as he does not appear on the subsequent tax-lists.

Of course, it is easy to imagine that Thomas (1) Osborn in his obstreperous and harassed life sought asylum, for a time, with a brother Baptist in Billerica, and that when the Indian scare was at its height went back to Charlestown, sold his property--or the most of it--in 1678, and at the death of his wife "Sarah", sojourned at Woburn, and soon after went to Nantucket. He was licensed as a regular preacher by his Baptist brethren in 1668, and was evidently in the "work" at Nantucket. Possibly had been at Newbury, Mass. My suggestion that the Thomas Osborn with Timothy Brooks was Thomas (2), was an effort to account for the Sarah Osborn of Woburn 1684 and 1685, and who married Joshua Broadbent the latter year. It is reasonable to suppose that Thomas Osborn, harassed and imprisoned, was poor in the world's goods, and that his children would be apprenticed out--and doubtless among families of the Baptist faith. I feel very sure that the Abigail, who married Isaac (2) Fox, at Billerica, July 18, 1678, was the daughter of Thomas and Sarah Osborn of Malden and Charlestown. His last child recorded at Malden and Charlestown (town records) was the Martha of 1656, but we know that he had a later child, John, baptized at Charlestown, "19 (12) 1659/60". There was room for an Abigail, born say in 1658--or if John was a belated baptism, as is possible, then Abigail born, say, 1660, of right age for Isaac (2) Fox, born Oct. 17, 1657, (or possibly she was the "child" born to Thomas Osborn "30 (2) 1654", but she would have been three or four years older than her husband).

I have proved that Hannah Brooks, the second wife of Thomas (1) Fox, of Concord, was the daughter of Henry (1) Brooks of Concord and Woburn. In the fall of 1661 she became the third wife of Andrew (1) Lester, of New London, and was the "daughter Lester" mentioned in the will of said Henry (1) Brooks in 1682. She evidently took her children--all young--with her to New London. She certainly took the two oldest, Hannah and Thomas, with her. Now I think her brother Timothy (2) Brooks about 1663 also went to the vicinity of New London also, and was the Timothy Brooks who owned land in the Niantic region in 1663. Note that the record of his children ceases at Woburn with "John, Oct. 16, 1662, and begins with Mary, born at Billerica, Dec. 15, 1670. During this interval he had, at least, daughters Elizabeth and Abigail. I have not yet fully settled this sojourn of Timothy (2) Brooks at New London--that is proved it, but I am certain in my own mind that it is a fact. This would account for Isaac (2) Fox's being with him in Billerica. It is plain now how the second generation of Foxes came down to New London. When Isaac (2) Fox, about 1698 also went from Medford, Mass. to New London, his cousin Henry (3) Brooks (Isaac 2, Henry 1) went with him and also settled at New London.

Now as to John (1) Osborn, of Weymouth, Mass. and Stonington, Conn. (not Norwich). I will give you what I have gleaned. But I will say that I have a "hunch" that said John Osborn was a relative--probably a brother--of Thomas Osborn the Baptist. March 1, 1657/8, in the land division Thomas Osborn drew "on Mystic side", 18 acres of wood lot and 3 acres of commons. Oct. 30, 1678, Thomas Osborne "late of Charlestown now of Woburn" sold "one half * * * * 9 acres# of this wood lot to Thomas Marble of Charlestown. The other half of this wood lot was sold by Ephraim Osborne in 1669, but there is nothing in the records, land or probate, to indicate how Ephraim Osborn acquired his title. We can only conjecture. That it was Ephraim (2) Osborne (John 1) who married, 1697, Jane Matson, and not an Ephraim (3) seems evident, if his death record is correct "died Aug. 26, 1734 in ye 78 year of his age.", so born abt. 1657. Weymouth records; Ephraim Osborn, born Aug. 11, 1657. His belated marriage may be explained by his unpleasant history as given in the history of said John (1) Osborn and family, that I have gleaned, that I had better give on separate sheet. It is meagre enough, and, of course imperfect and incomplete, and you can conjecture whether or not, when Ephraim and his mother, Mary, after the death of the father in 1676, escaped from unpleasant memory by going to Charlestown, Mass. from Stonington, Conn., they took other adult--or almost adult--sisters with them, say also a brother Thomas, Abigail and Sarah. who married Isaac (2) Fox, and Joshua Broadbent. I am inclined to doubt any such probability, and I think that Abigail Osborn of Billerica was the daughter of Thomas Osborn, the Baptist.

I do not know that this will interest you, but I will send it anyway. I hope to have a closer search made at Billerica for a clue.

Yours very truly,

JOHN (1) OSBORNE, of Weymouth,,Mass. and Stonington, Conn.

Children, as far as traced.

John	born	at Weymouth Feb. 2, 1640; was living at Stonington, Conn. at death of his father in 1676, and administration of his father's estate was granted to John Osborn Jr.
Mary,	"	date not found. Married Mar. 7, 1657/9, at Boston with John Rosse of Charlestown. Later settled in Windham county, Conn.
Patience,	"	date not found. Married Feb. 26, 1662, Joseph Aldrich.
Ephraim,	"	at Weymouth, Aug. 11, 1657; married at Cambridge Oct. 21, 1697, Jane Matson.
Hannah,	"	date not found. Married at Stonington, Conn. Dec. 12, 1670, John Ashcraft. He died Sept. 1680, and she married, second, Deliverance Blackman.
Joshua	"	date not found. He died in 1681. His will and inventory was exhibited, Sept. 22, 1681. "Hannah Ashcraft, sister." (probably unmarried).

April Thomas Miner's Diary, p. 122.
 "the 8th day wednesday (1674) osbornes wedding was and the 15.
 day wensday I toke bond for marie osbornes appearance."

New London County Court Record.

"At a court held June 2, 1674, Marie Osburn and Ephraim her sonne being convicted of notorious Lacivious practices, the said persons are therefore adjudged by this Court to be forthwith whipped upon the naked body."

In September, 1676, the will of John Osborn was approved, and administration was granted to John Osborn Jr.

The foregoing comprehends all I have, so far, been able to find concerning John Osborn's family.

Mary Osborne died at <sup>Charlestown</sup> ~~Cambridge~~ May 1, 1678, and the town helped pay for her coffin.

As I interpret to entry made by Thomas Miner in his diary. I have a guess that John (1) Osborn's wife Mary had died, and that he had married a second wife, also named Mary, on April 8, 1674, and that it was her who with her (step) son Ephraim was involved in a scandal. It would seem that she and Ephraim went to Cambridge. If I am correct in my interpretation of Thomas Miner's memorandum--and it seems to be analogous with evident intent in other entries--it is not likely that other of John (1) Osborn's children accompanied them.

The County Court of New London County, Conn., was mostly held at Norwich, hence Wyman's mistake in thinking Ephraim Osborn was of Norwich, Conn. Was there not something in the Charlestown (or Cambridge, records, that caused Wyman to look up this court record at Norwich? Possibly some objection to their being received as inhabitants.

The OSGOOD FAMILY

of Andover. Line of Christopher.

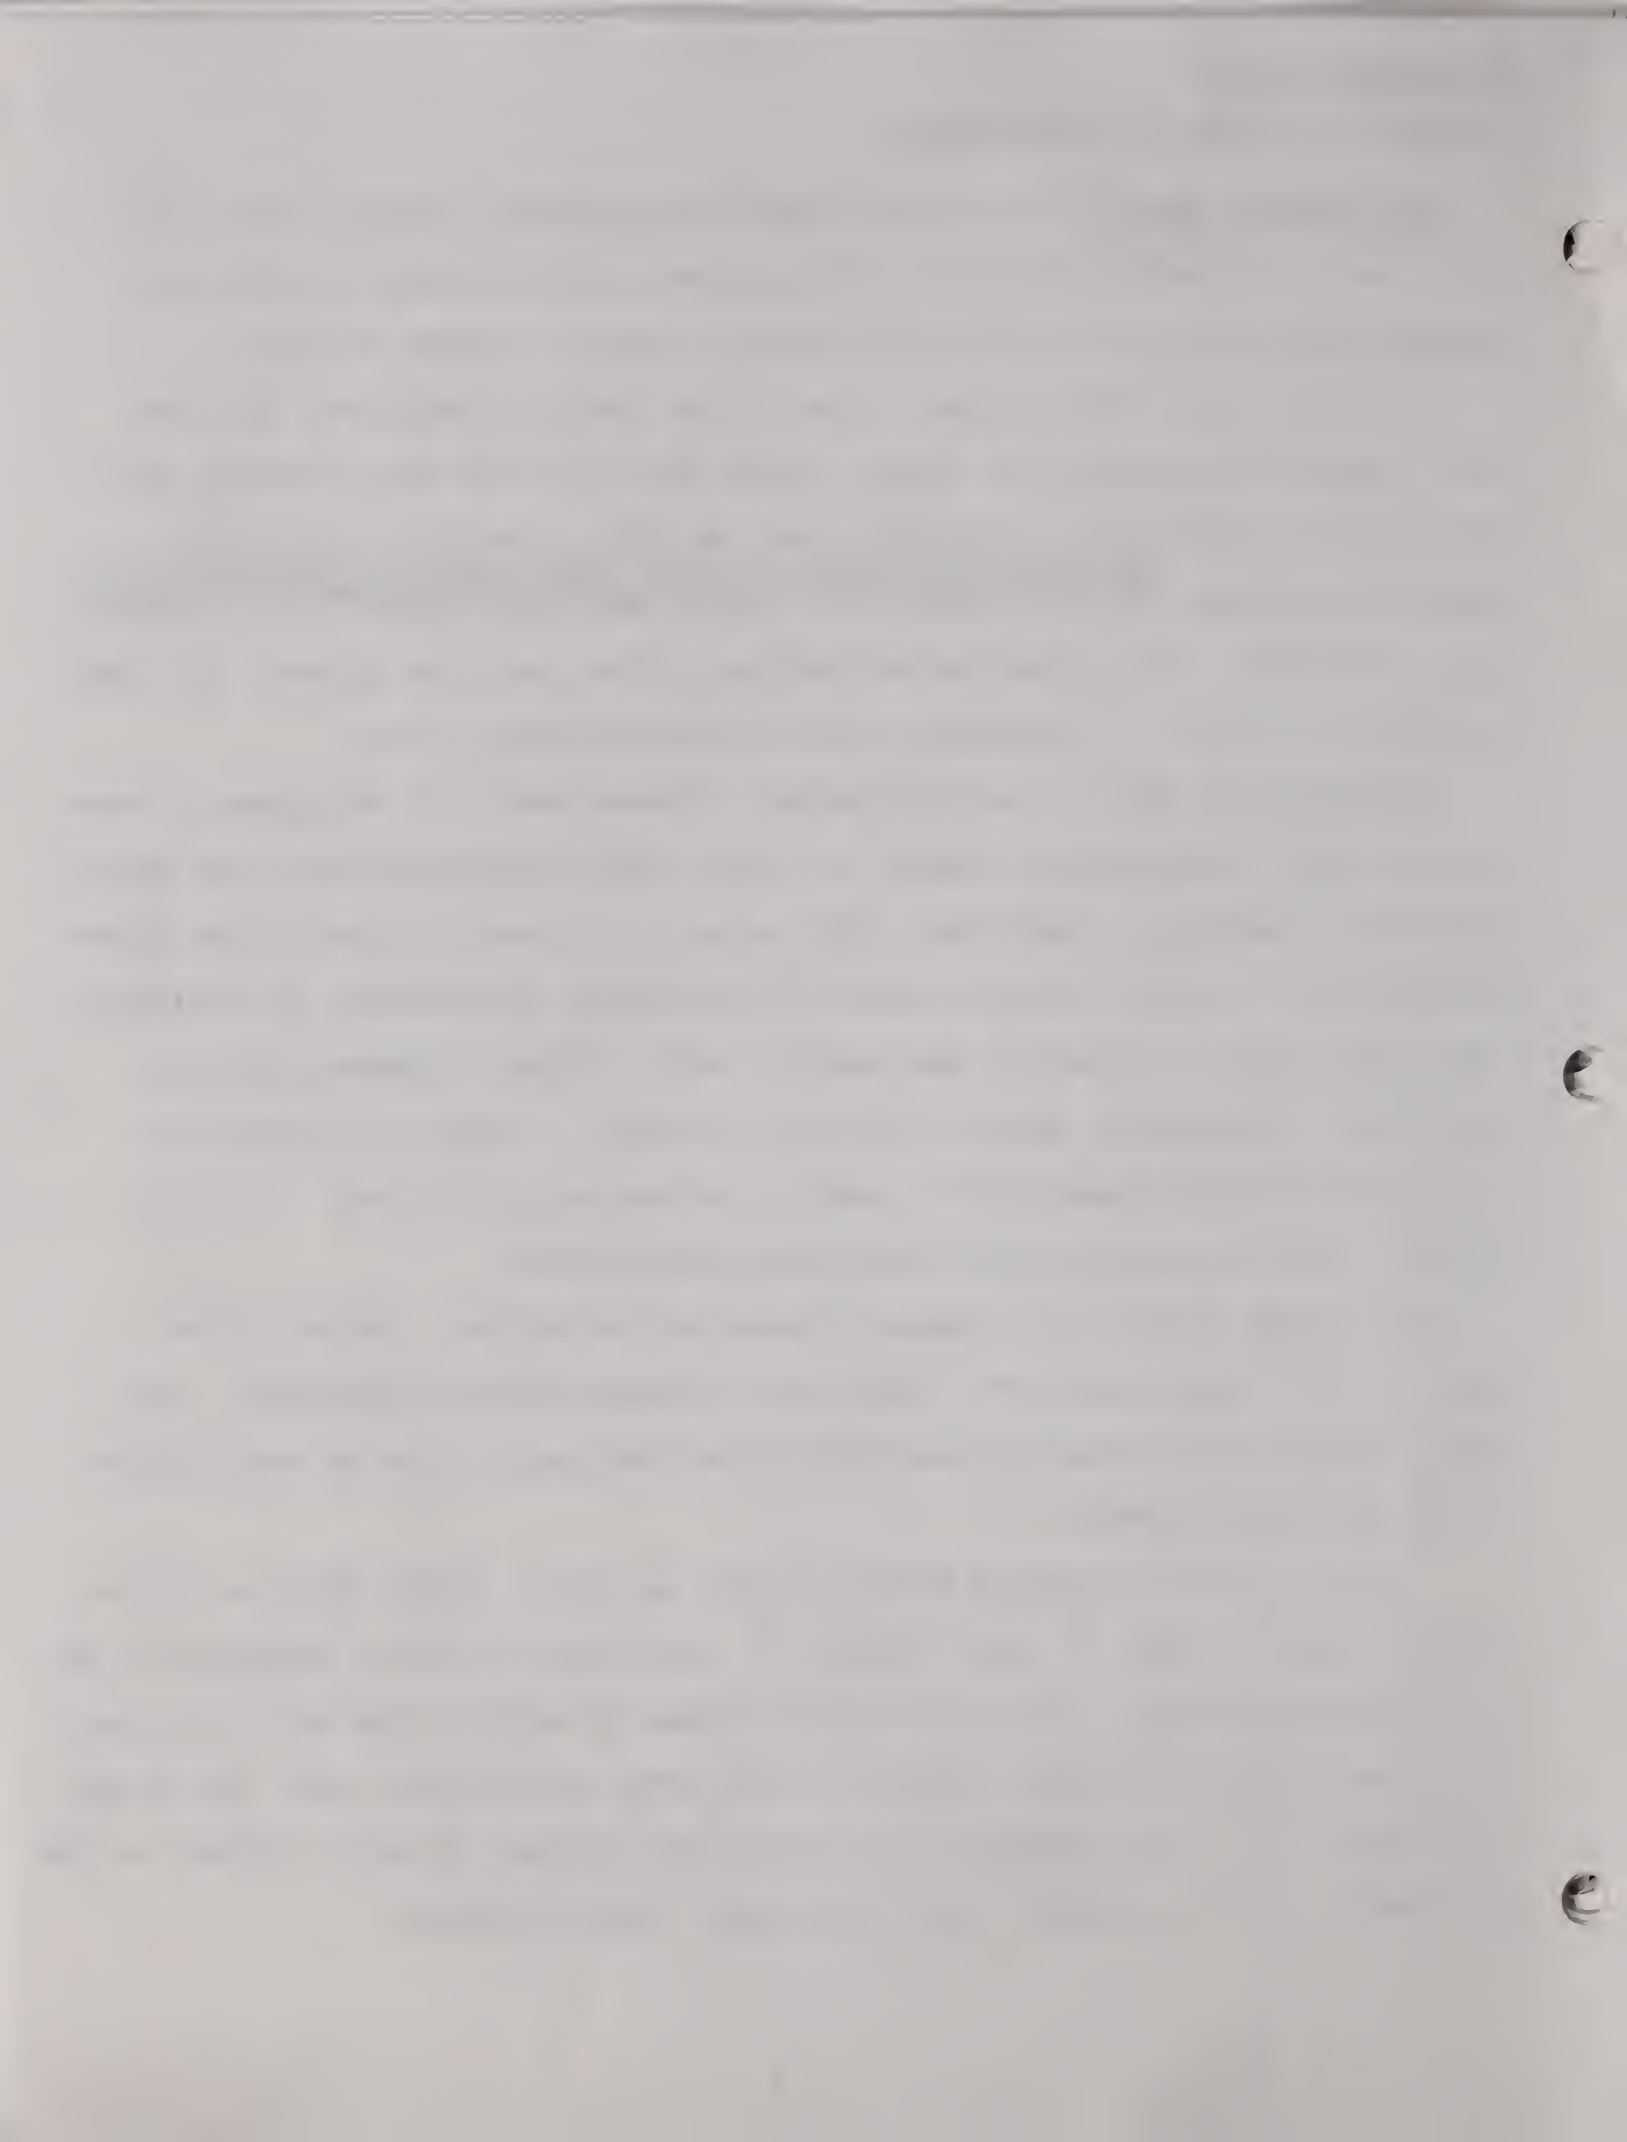

Christopher Osgood of St. Mary's, Marlboro, England, married April 21, 1632, Mary Everard. She died shortly and was buried April 21, 1633. A daughter, Mary (2), born 1633 was baptized there on March 17, 1633.

Christopher married second, also at St. Mary's, Marlboro, July 28, 1633, Marjory, daughter of Philip Fowler and his wife Mary Winsley, who was bapt. at Marlboro in Wiltshire, May 25, 1615. These all came with sailing from London in the "Mary and John", Mar. 24, 1634. Fowler to America, (The Fowler book claims that Christopher is of Salisbury, Wiltshire. It places him as brother to Wm. and John Osgood, but that is not so at all.) Christopher died at Ipswich, Mass. 1650.

Marjory took for her second husband, Thomas Rowell of Salisbury, about a year after Christopher's death and came with him and children and grandchildren to Andover, where they- the Fowlers and Rowell, started the first fulling mill. Rowell, who was one of the original proprietors of Salisbury, 1639, died here in Andover. She married third, Thomas Coleman, who was recorded in Nantucket, June 8, 1678, and rented a house in Andover to a son, Christopher Osgood, for 12 years. He was to pay 15 lbs. to his brother Tom of Andover and to have the house, later.

Her fourth husband was Thomas Osborne of Nantucket. Marjory died Nov. 20, 1701 aged about 87. Before her departure for Nantucket, she left a feather bed with her son-in-law John Lovejoy, which he was to give to her son, Jacob Rowell.

Christopher (1) Osgood made his will in April, 1650. This is in the Ipswich records, Vol. 1, page 77, 234. He provides for wife, Margery and ~~xx~~ son, Christopher, age 7, who is to have residue of estate when he is 21. Thos. is not mentioned so he was doubtless born after his father died. His daughters were not to marry without the advice and consent of their mother or the overseers of the property: John Horton and Philip Fowler.

The children of Christopher (1) Osgood and wives: Mary and Marjory, were:-

Mary (2) b. 1633 in England; m. June 1, 1651, John Lovejoy of Andover.

By Marjorie:-

Abigail (2), b. about 1636; m. Sherburne Wilson, April 9, 1657; he was son of Wm. Wilson and w. FABIENCE, of Boston and brother of Jos. Wilson of Andover, b. about 1637.

Elizabeth (2), b. about 1638; alive when father made will, 1650; d. shortly of Andover, Deborah (2), b. about 1640; m. Aug. 28, 1663, John Russe, /son of John and wife Margaret, ferryman of Dover.

Thomas (2), b. 1651; m. 1674, Susann Lord of Ipswich; to N. Jersey; So. Car.
Christopher (2), b. about 1643; m. Dec. 6, 1663, Hannah Belknap of Lynn, probably dau. of Abraham, called 31 in 1671, so b. 1640. She d. Nov.

21, 1679, and Christopher m. 2nd., May 27, 1680, Hannah Barker, dau. of Wm. and wife, Mary (Dix). She d. April 6, 1687; Chris.

m. 3rd., Sarah---. who d. 1689; his 4th wife, also Sarah, --- could be a Sarah Stevens, whose mother, as a widow Orne, had m.

Jos. Ballard as his 2nd wife and had several children by 2 previous marriages. Christopher built the Frye mills and was called a wheelwright. He died May 9, 1723 at 80. His 4th wife outlived him. He was a Capt. here and a Representative, <sup>to Gen. Ct.</sup> The State Archives, 71:67-70, show the petition he and John Barker made, for blockhouses. He was an active and efficient leader in the defence of Andover against the Indians.

In 1676 he appears to have begun his career as constable in the south part of Andover. He was Selectman, 1678-9; 1683-4-6-7-8;

1693. In 1696 the title of Capt. was given him by Gov. Wm. Phipps

He was Representative to the General Court, Oct. to December, 1690; 1696; 1705; 1709.

Christopher Osgood's servant-so called- was killed in 1677 in the defense of Scarborough, at Black Point garrison. He was David <sup>Blackhead</sup> ~~Blanchard~~, and it is very likely that young Christopher also served in that campaign.

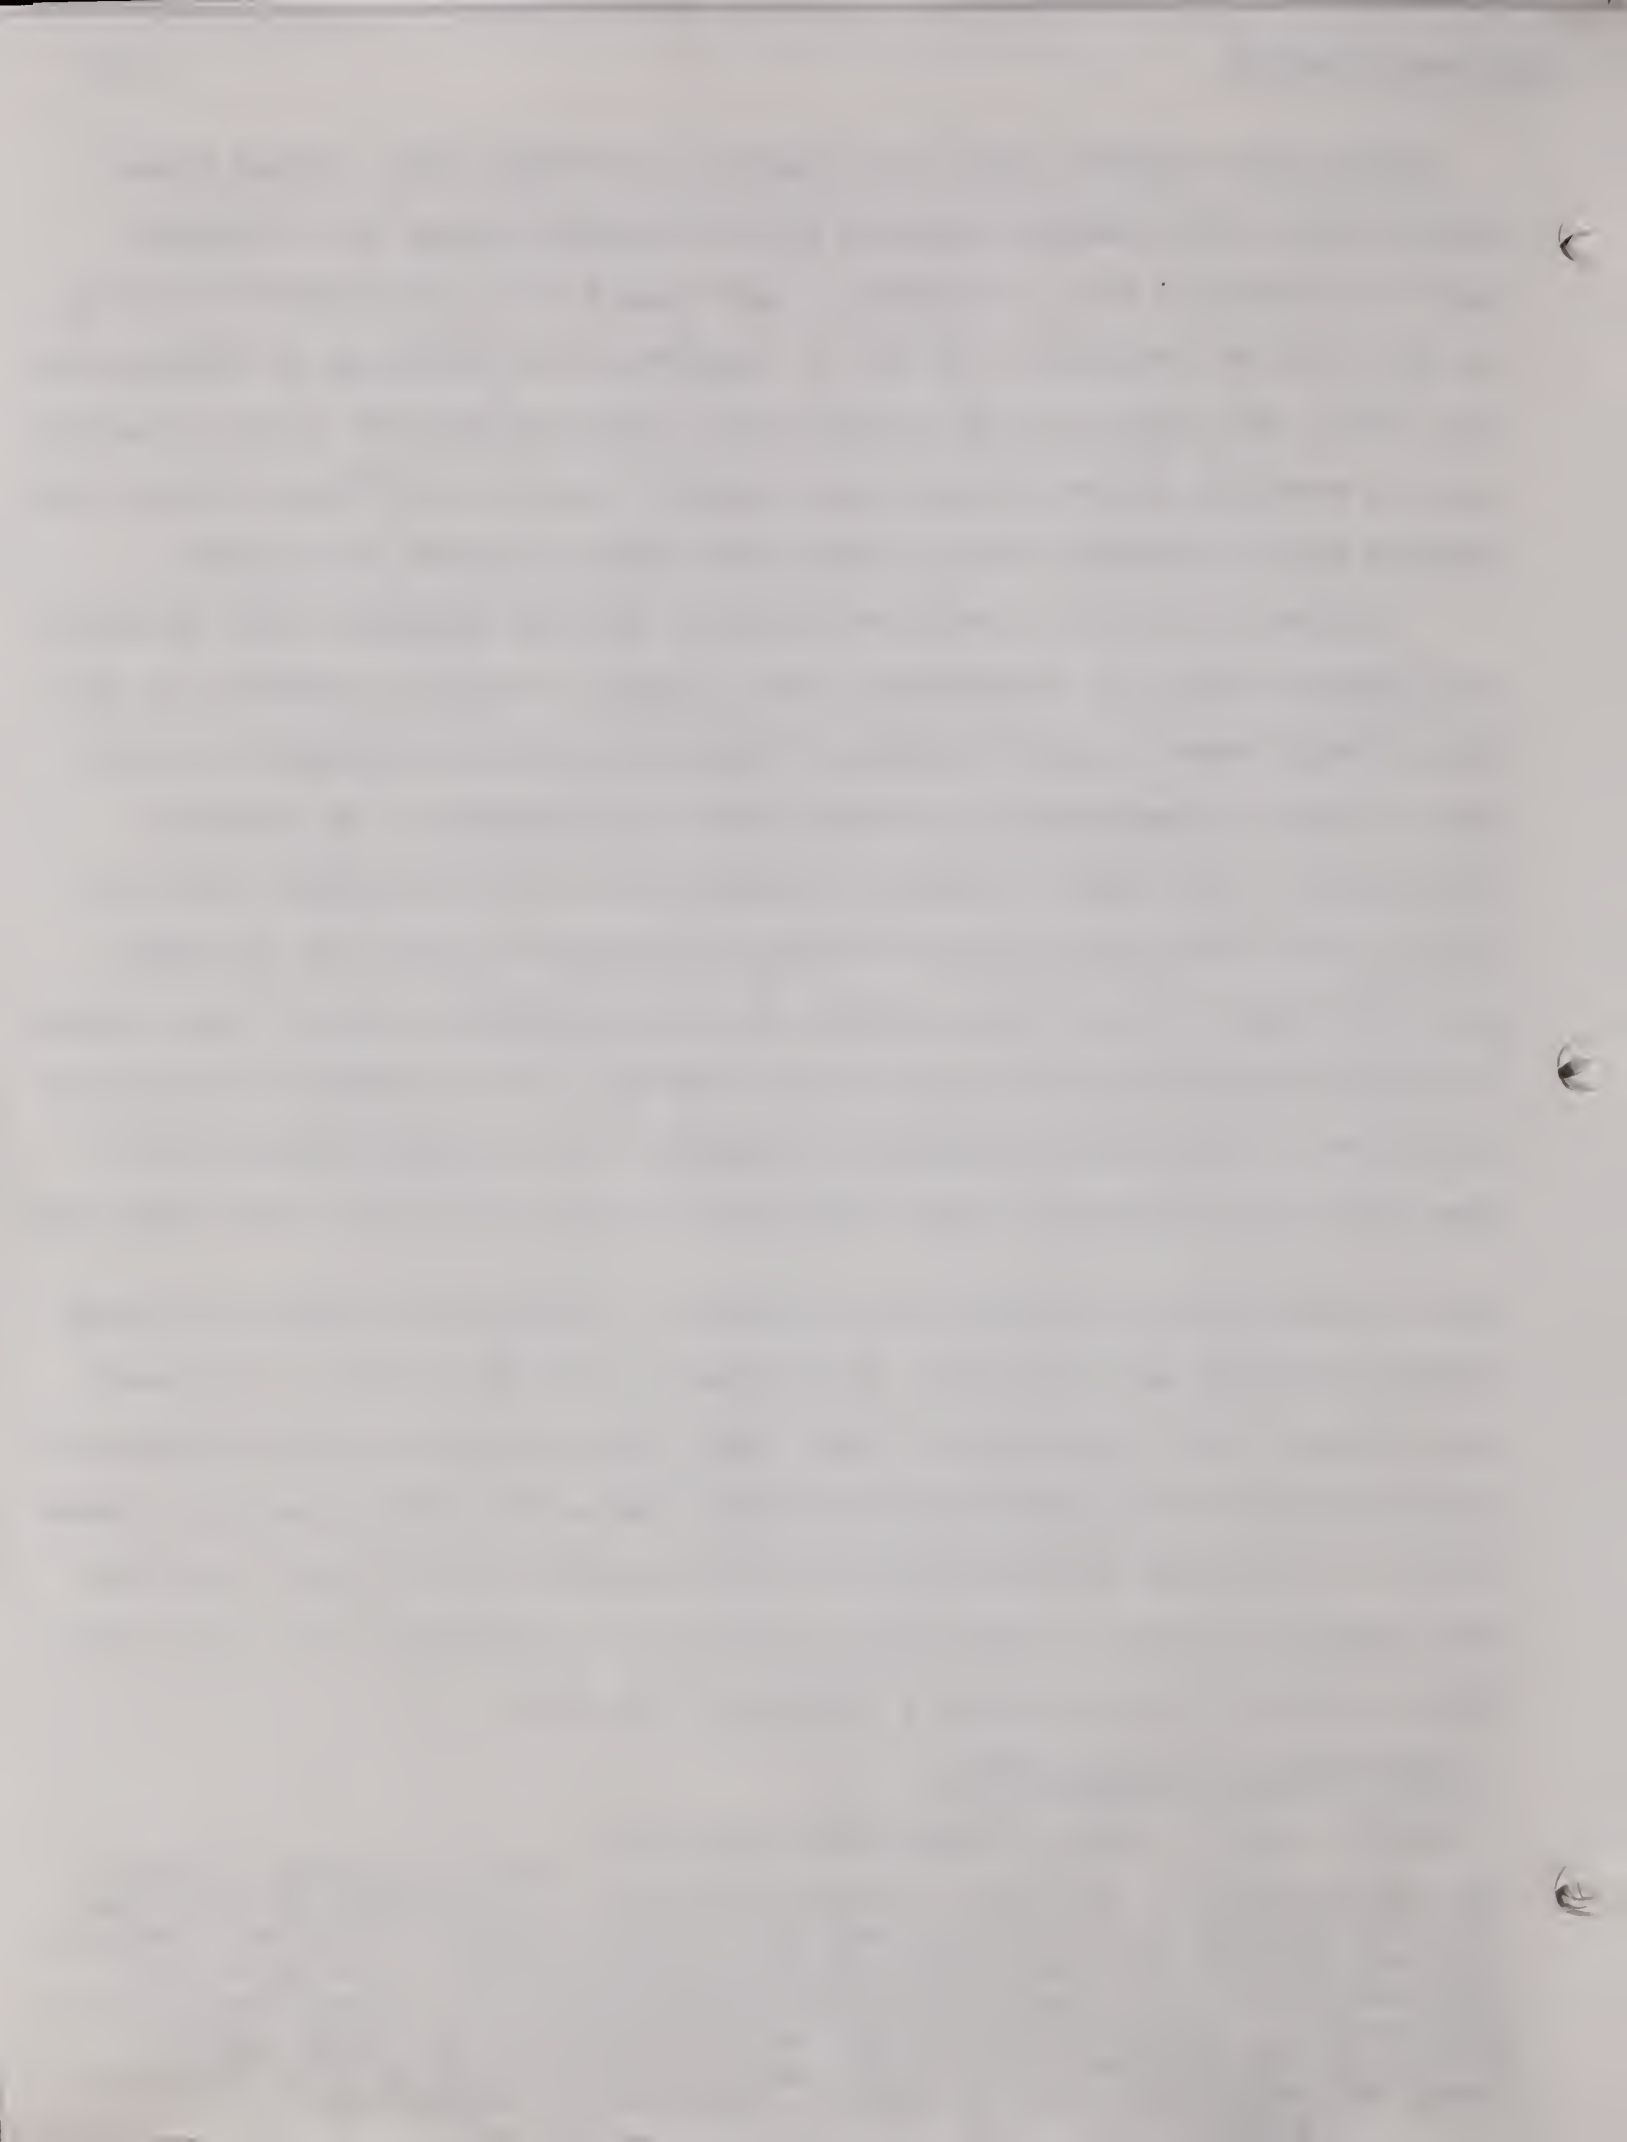

During the activity near the close of the French Wars, he was especially active. The younger men went to the Eastward under Lt. Col. March, who was building a ship at Andover, and Osgood was the officer in charge of the town and defenses-. He had to supervise the building of blockhouses and patrol the length of the Merrimac. He impressed ten men of his company, some to work and others to scout and guard. This was carried on while the country was in a state of war, before the close of Queen Anne's War.

On Nov. 27, 1695 a letter was sent to William Houghton, Gov. of Mass. and General Court, by Bradstreet and C. Osgood, Military Commander of the Essex troops here in our division. "Representing the inhabitants of Andover-- Since the beginning and during the continuation of the present Indian War, ( the depth of Winter excepted) at their own proper cost and charge, have maintained and do continually maintain divers men to watch and ward their town for the security of the inhabitants thereof- the charge of which hath not been less that about 1000 Lbs. to ye Towne- besides the hindrance of those men from their employment- and notwithstanding which they have had continually their proportion of men with other towns- impressed out into His Majesty's service-where divers of them still remain- and have hitherto, without any abatement, paid rates to the full with, if not more than others- That, by reason of this town lying so near a desert wilderness exposing them to the assault of the enemy they are forced to garrison themselves, to the great detriment of their work abroad- about their necessary employments in hazard of their lives, while it is otherwise with many towns- Andover asks to be considered a frontier town, etc.... "

Voted 1696 in the negative.

51:59.. Aug. 14, 1696; "Right Honorable Sir:-

After ye enemy had made the attack upon us, I posted a letter forthwith to our Major who went the same day thither to conduct our soldiers- to Co. Gedney- that was impressed from our town for the Expedition to ye Eastward- there being 20 men impressed out of our town for said expedition-which is a great weakness to us that are so much a frontier town-paralleled with any other now by reason of the Merrimac River being so low at this time of year that the enemy may wade over - and in several places-right against us-- and the effects thereof do now appear to our sorrow and damage-whereupon by what is already done by those upon ourselves - and what hath been at this instant done upon our neighbors not far distant from us- and the great strength and success of the enemy hath in all the late attempt- the people of our town are under such discouragement to stand their ground that they are in amazement of the spirits about- contriving to break up and remove and everyone to shift for themselves- though it be to the loss of their estates- and some garrisons are already upon breaking up and removing - and extremity of fear and danger will not suffer men to know their duty- thereupon, in our Major's absence, the care of the town lying mostly upon myself, -people here generally have been making application to me to supplicate your honor that orders be given forthwith, for the return of our men home again that are sent out- also that there be a competent number of men besides, out of some of the inmost towns, commanded forthwith, for our assistance, for we are in expectation every hour, of an attack by a great body of the enemy that have been discovered this day, as we are informed, between Exeter and Haverhill, upon the march towards Haverhill and Andover.

We have therefore no other help under God- but to make our speedy application to your honor for our present relief- which we doubt not but that your fatherly pity toward us will appear, in preferring this most humble address of him that is in behalf of an town, your ~~honest~~ honest, most humble petitioner.

Christopher Osgood.

From Andover, Aug. 14, 1696. "

The paper which follows describes the raid the Indians made upon the Blanchard garrison and the killing of Wm. Peters, etc. Col. Gedney was in the Eastward, Aug. 17, and Gov. Houghton sent a letter after him, making arrangements for a vigorous campaign and paid no heed to Andover affairs, apparently.

Local notes on Christopher's line:-

Fred Osgood was a bugler in some local militia about 1834. The boys of Frye Village all admired him, said T.C. Frye.

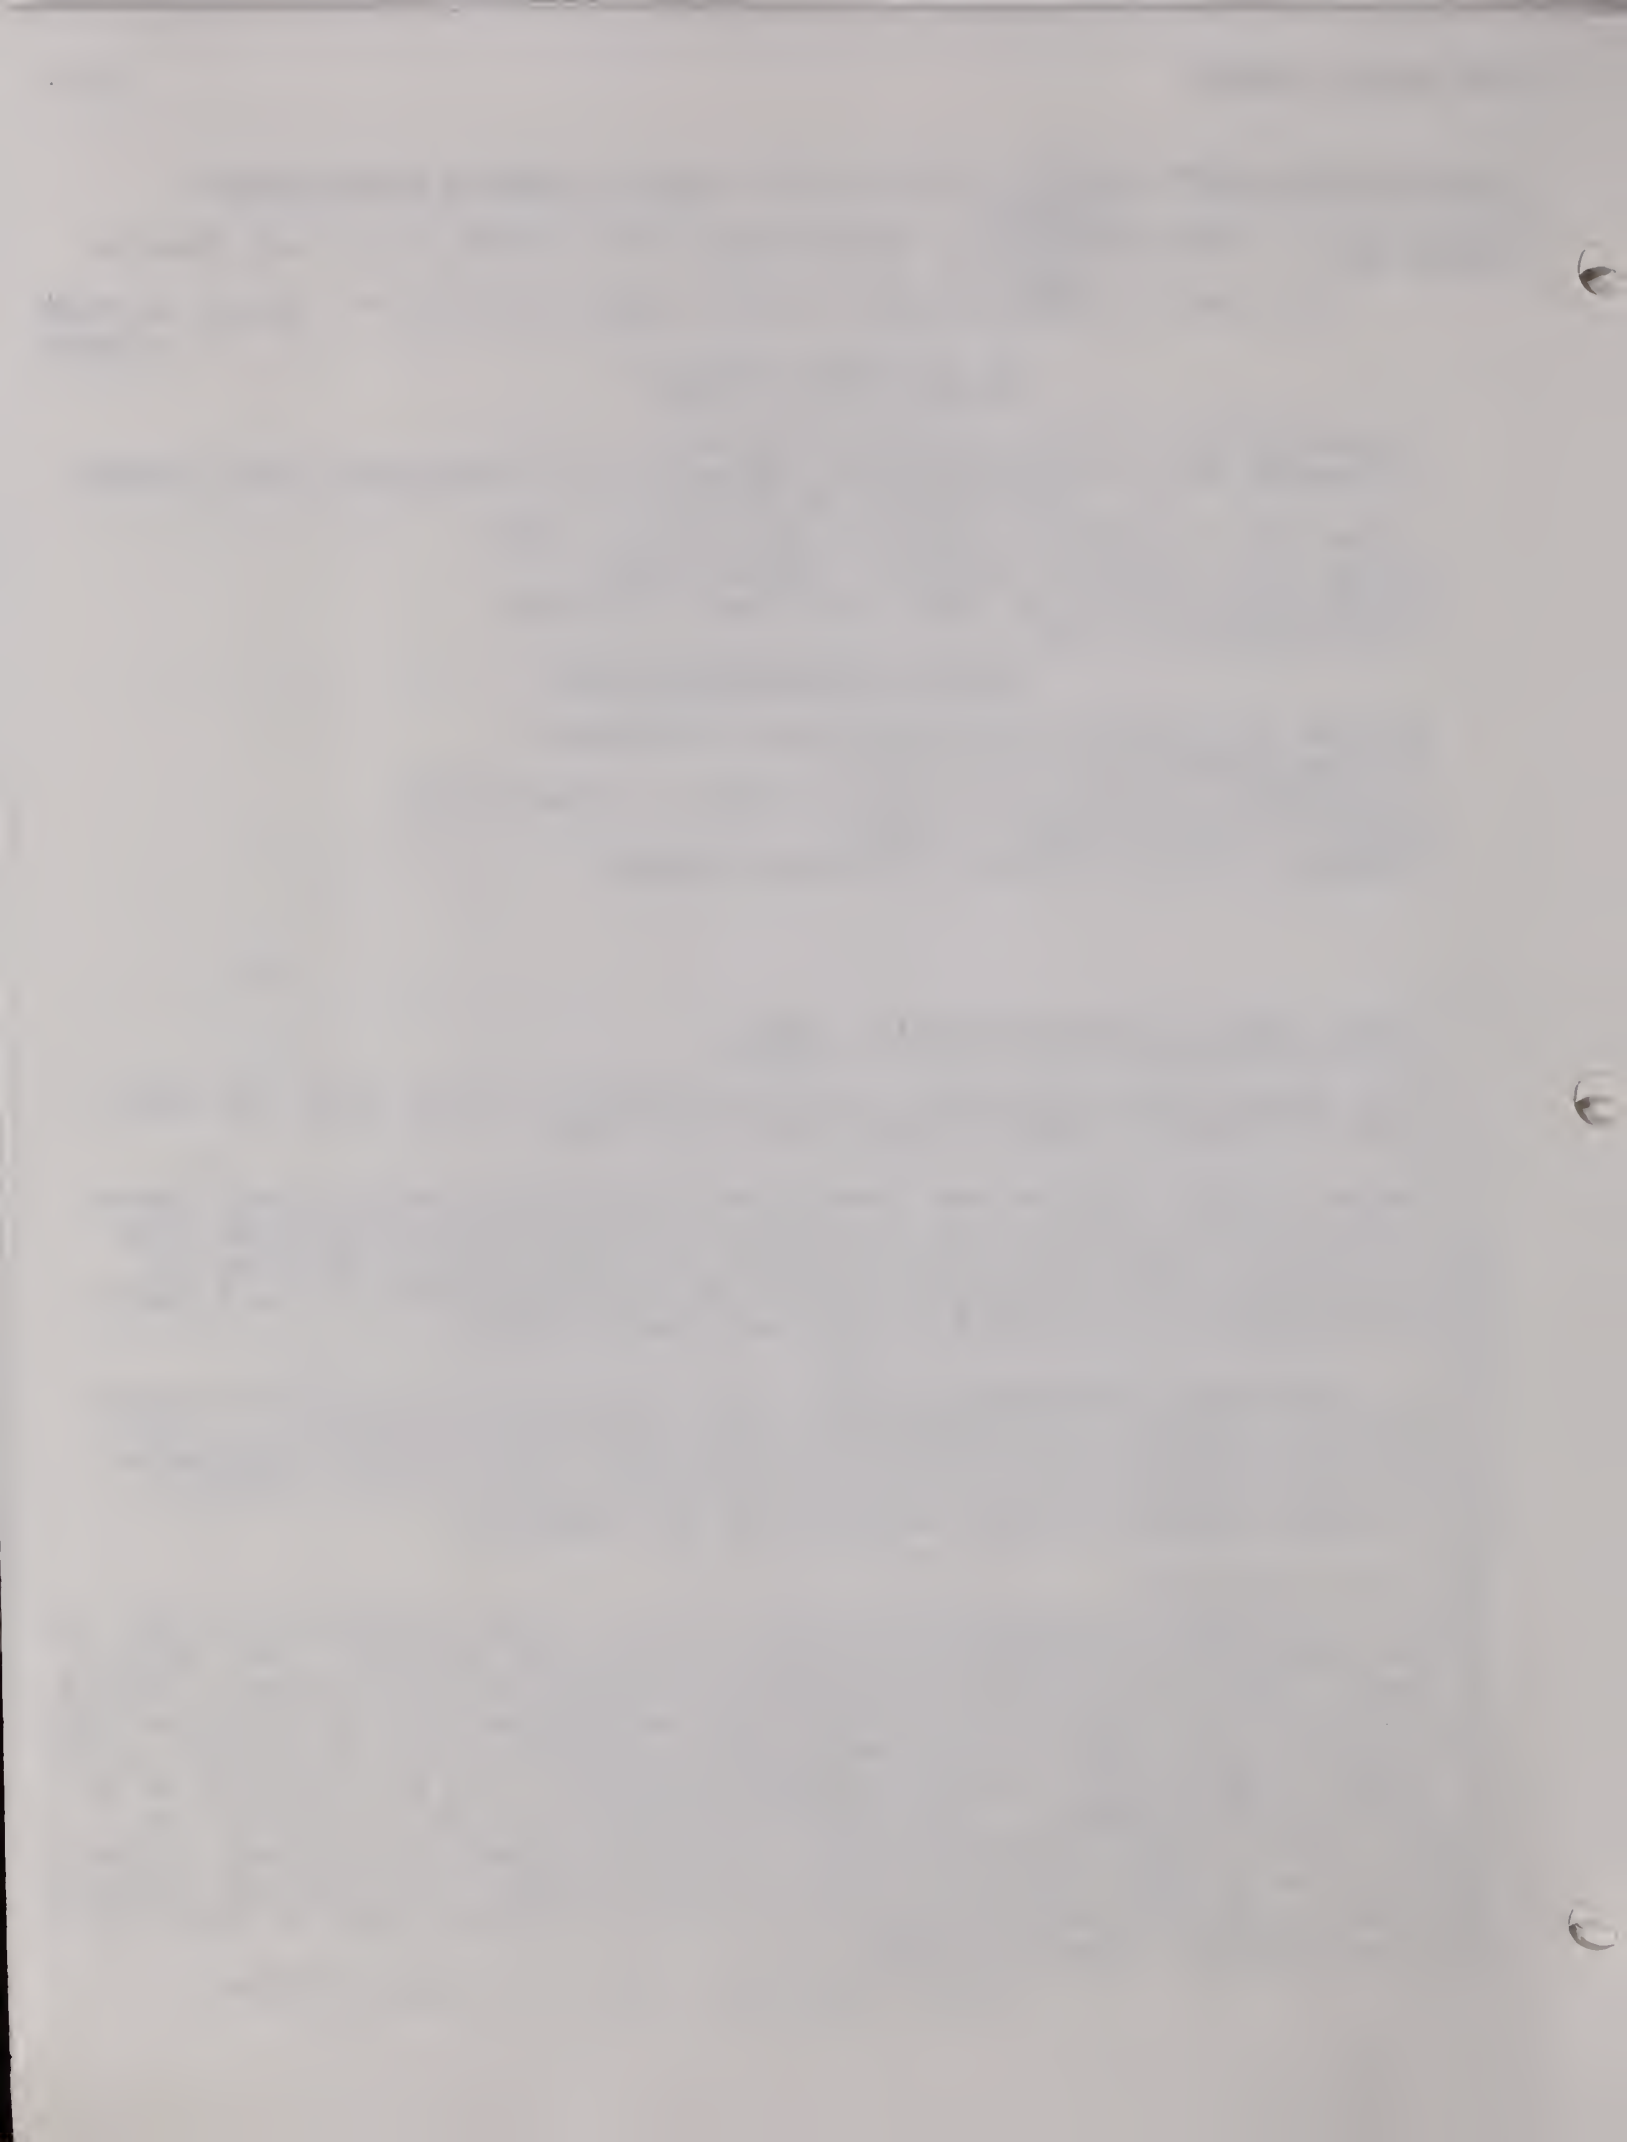

Samuel Osgood's place was near Frye Village near the old poor-house- on the site of a small brick house. The street ran along the other side of the house, then. Sam's garden was on the same side of the road as the poor-house. His son, Fred, -inherited the place, both the part owned by his father and that held by his aunt, Hannah Osgood.

Introduction

The purpose of this study is to investigate the effects of various factors on the growth of a specific plant species. The study was conducted over a period of six months, during which time the plants were grown under different conditions. The results of the study are presented in the following sections.

The first section discusses the methodology used in the study, including the selection of the plant species, the experimental design, and the data collection process. The second section presents the results of the study, showing the growth of the plants under different conditions. The third section discusses the implications of the results and the conclusions drawn from the study.

The study was conducted in a controlled environment, where the plants were grown in pots. The pots were placed in a greenhouse, where the temperature and humidity were controlled. The plants were watered regularly, and the soil was kept moist. The results of the study show that the growth of the plants was affected by the different conditions. The plants grown in the most favorable conditions showed the highest growth, while the plants grown in the least favorable conditions showed the lowest growth.

The study has several limitations, including the small sample size and the controlled environment. However, the results of the study provide valuable information about the growth of the plant species under different conditions. The study also highlights the importance of controlling the environment when growing plants in a laboratory setting.

The first part of the paper discusses the importance of the study and the objectives of the research. It also mentions the scope of the study and the limitations. The second part of the paper discusses the methodology used in the study. It mentions the data sources and the statistical methods used. The third part of the paper discusses the results of the study. It mentions the findings and the conclusions. The fourth part of the paper discusses the implications of the study. It mentions the policy recommendations and the future research.

The study was conducted in a systematic and rigorous manner. The data was collected from a representative sample of the population. The statistical methods used were appropriate for the data and the research objectives. The results of the study are presented in a clear and concise manner. The findings are discussed in detail and the conclusions are drawn based on the evidence. The implications of the study are discussed and the policy recommendations are provided.

The study has several strengths. It is a large-scale study that covers a wide range of the population. The data is reliable and valid. The statistical methods used are appropriate. The results are presented in a clear and concise manner. The findings are discussed in detail and the conclusions are drawn based on the evidence. The implications of the study are discussed and the policy recommendations are provided.

The study has several limitations. It is a cross-sectional study and cannot establish causality. The data is self-reported and may be subject to bias. The statistical methods used may not be appropriate for all aspects of the data. The results may not be generalizable to other populations. The findings are discussed in detail and the conclusions are drawn based on the evidence. The implications of the study are discussed and the policy recommendations are provided.

The study is a valuable contribution to the literature. It provides new insights into the research topic. The findings are discussed in detail and the conclusions are drawn based on the evidence. The implications of the study are discussed and the policy recommendations are provided.

The first of these is the fact that the human race is not a homogeneous entity, but is composed of many different groups, each with its own characteristics and customs. This is evident from the study of the various races of man, and from the study of the history of the human race. The second fact is that the human race is not a static entity,
but is constantly changing and evolving. This is evident from the study of the history of the human race, and from the study of the various races of man.

The third fact is that the human race is not a uniform entity, but is composed of many different groups, each with its own characteristics and customs. This is evident from the study of the various races of man, and from the study of the history of the human race. The fourth fact is that the human race is not a static entity,
but is constantly changing and evolving. This is evident from the study of the history of the human race, and from the study of the various races of man.

The fifth fact is that the human race is not a uniform entity, but
is composed of many different
groups, each with its own characteristics and customs. This is evident from the study of the various races of man, and from the study of the history of the human race. The sixth fact is that the human race is not a static entity,
but is constantly changing and evolving. This is evident from the study of the history of the human race, and from the study of the
various races of man.

(If James Otis, who was boarding there, hadn't wanted a drink of cider he wouldn't have been struck by lightning.) Jacob never allowed any company to visit him or his family to visit others during the day, as it was a waste of good daylight. He was a wealthy man and had much influence. Two old horses, Kate and Jane, belonging to Jacob, were afraid of horse-doctor Whittmore and used to bolt when he appeared. Jacob always went to the Village by the old road past the Blunt place and drove to meeting at North Andover. He gave milk away to the poor and those he favored. Used to treat Dr. Justin Edwards, (author of the Temperance Tract) to cider, calling it "American Brandy", the "best drink out." He wouldn't allow any of the veal from his farm to be sold to the Seminary, and when they were overstocked, the family fed on veal. The home was owned in 1860 by Wadleigh Noyes. The homestead was owned by Stephen (2) Osgood, (John (1)), and was inherited by Stephen (3) who passed it on to Isaac.

The name OSGOOD is supposed to be of Saxon or Norse origin. Historians refer to the tale of the two Saxon monarchs, Osgod and Albeh, who ask permission/ to take their benefactor, Harold, away, after the Battle of Hastings. There were early families of the name in Hampshire and Wilts, England, and one Osget of Wiltshire, a thane, made a truce with Wm. the Conqueror at time of the Conquest.

In 1637, a Dr. Stanley, headmaster of Winchester School, England, wrote to Sir Edward Nichols, Secretary of State to Charles 1 of England, advising him of the desire of John Osgood to go to the colonies. He was not in favor of John's adventure but asked Nichols to do something. The latter endorsed the request April 3, 1638 and Nichols obtained a pass for John, on April 14 of the same year. Included in the pass were: Sarah Osgood who was recorded as "spinster" (which doubtless refers to her trade, not status as single woman as many have believed) and four children; with the part were Wm. Osgood and Wm. Jones, both children under 11, and Margery Parker, a servant. This entry is thought to have been a deception to avoid delay, as both Wm. Osgood and Wm. Jones were grown men and proceeded to build mills directly on landing. The other explanation is that they were children of the above men, and Sarah was acting as their nurse.

John Osgood was listed as a "freeman" on May 23, 1639. Christopher Osgood came from Marlboro and does not appear to connect in any way with this John of Wherewell. William, it is thought, proved his kinship to John by his will.

John Osgood died 1651, making John Clement and Nicholas Holt overseers. John (2) Osgood married Mary Clements or Clement, sister of John, above. John (2) inherited the homestead and broken and unbroken land, and meadow.

An inventory of the property gave : Purse and clothes; stock provisions; notes due, 20 Lbs.; homestead valued at 80 Lbs.; furniture; 4 beds; 19 yds. Kersey; 6 yds. serge; 16 yds. canvas; a remnant of serge; 10 prs. Stockings;

10 yds. Penistone (?); 3 yds. stuff; 22 pieces of pewter, etc; 2 muskets and a fowling piece; sword; bandoliers; nine bedsteads; farm tools and cart; 1 yd. holland; 1/2 yd. Calico. Total--373Lbs.7d.

Sarah and her son John are executors. She makes her X. So does Nich. Holt.

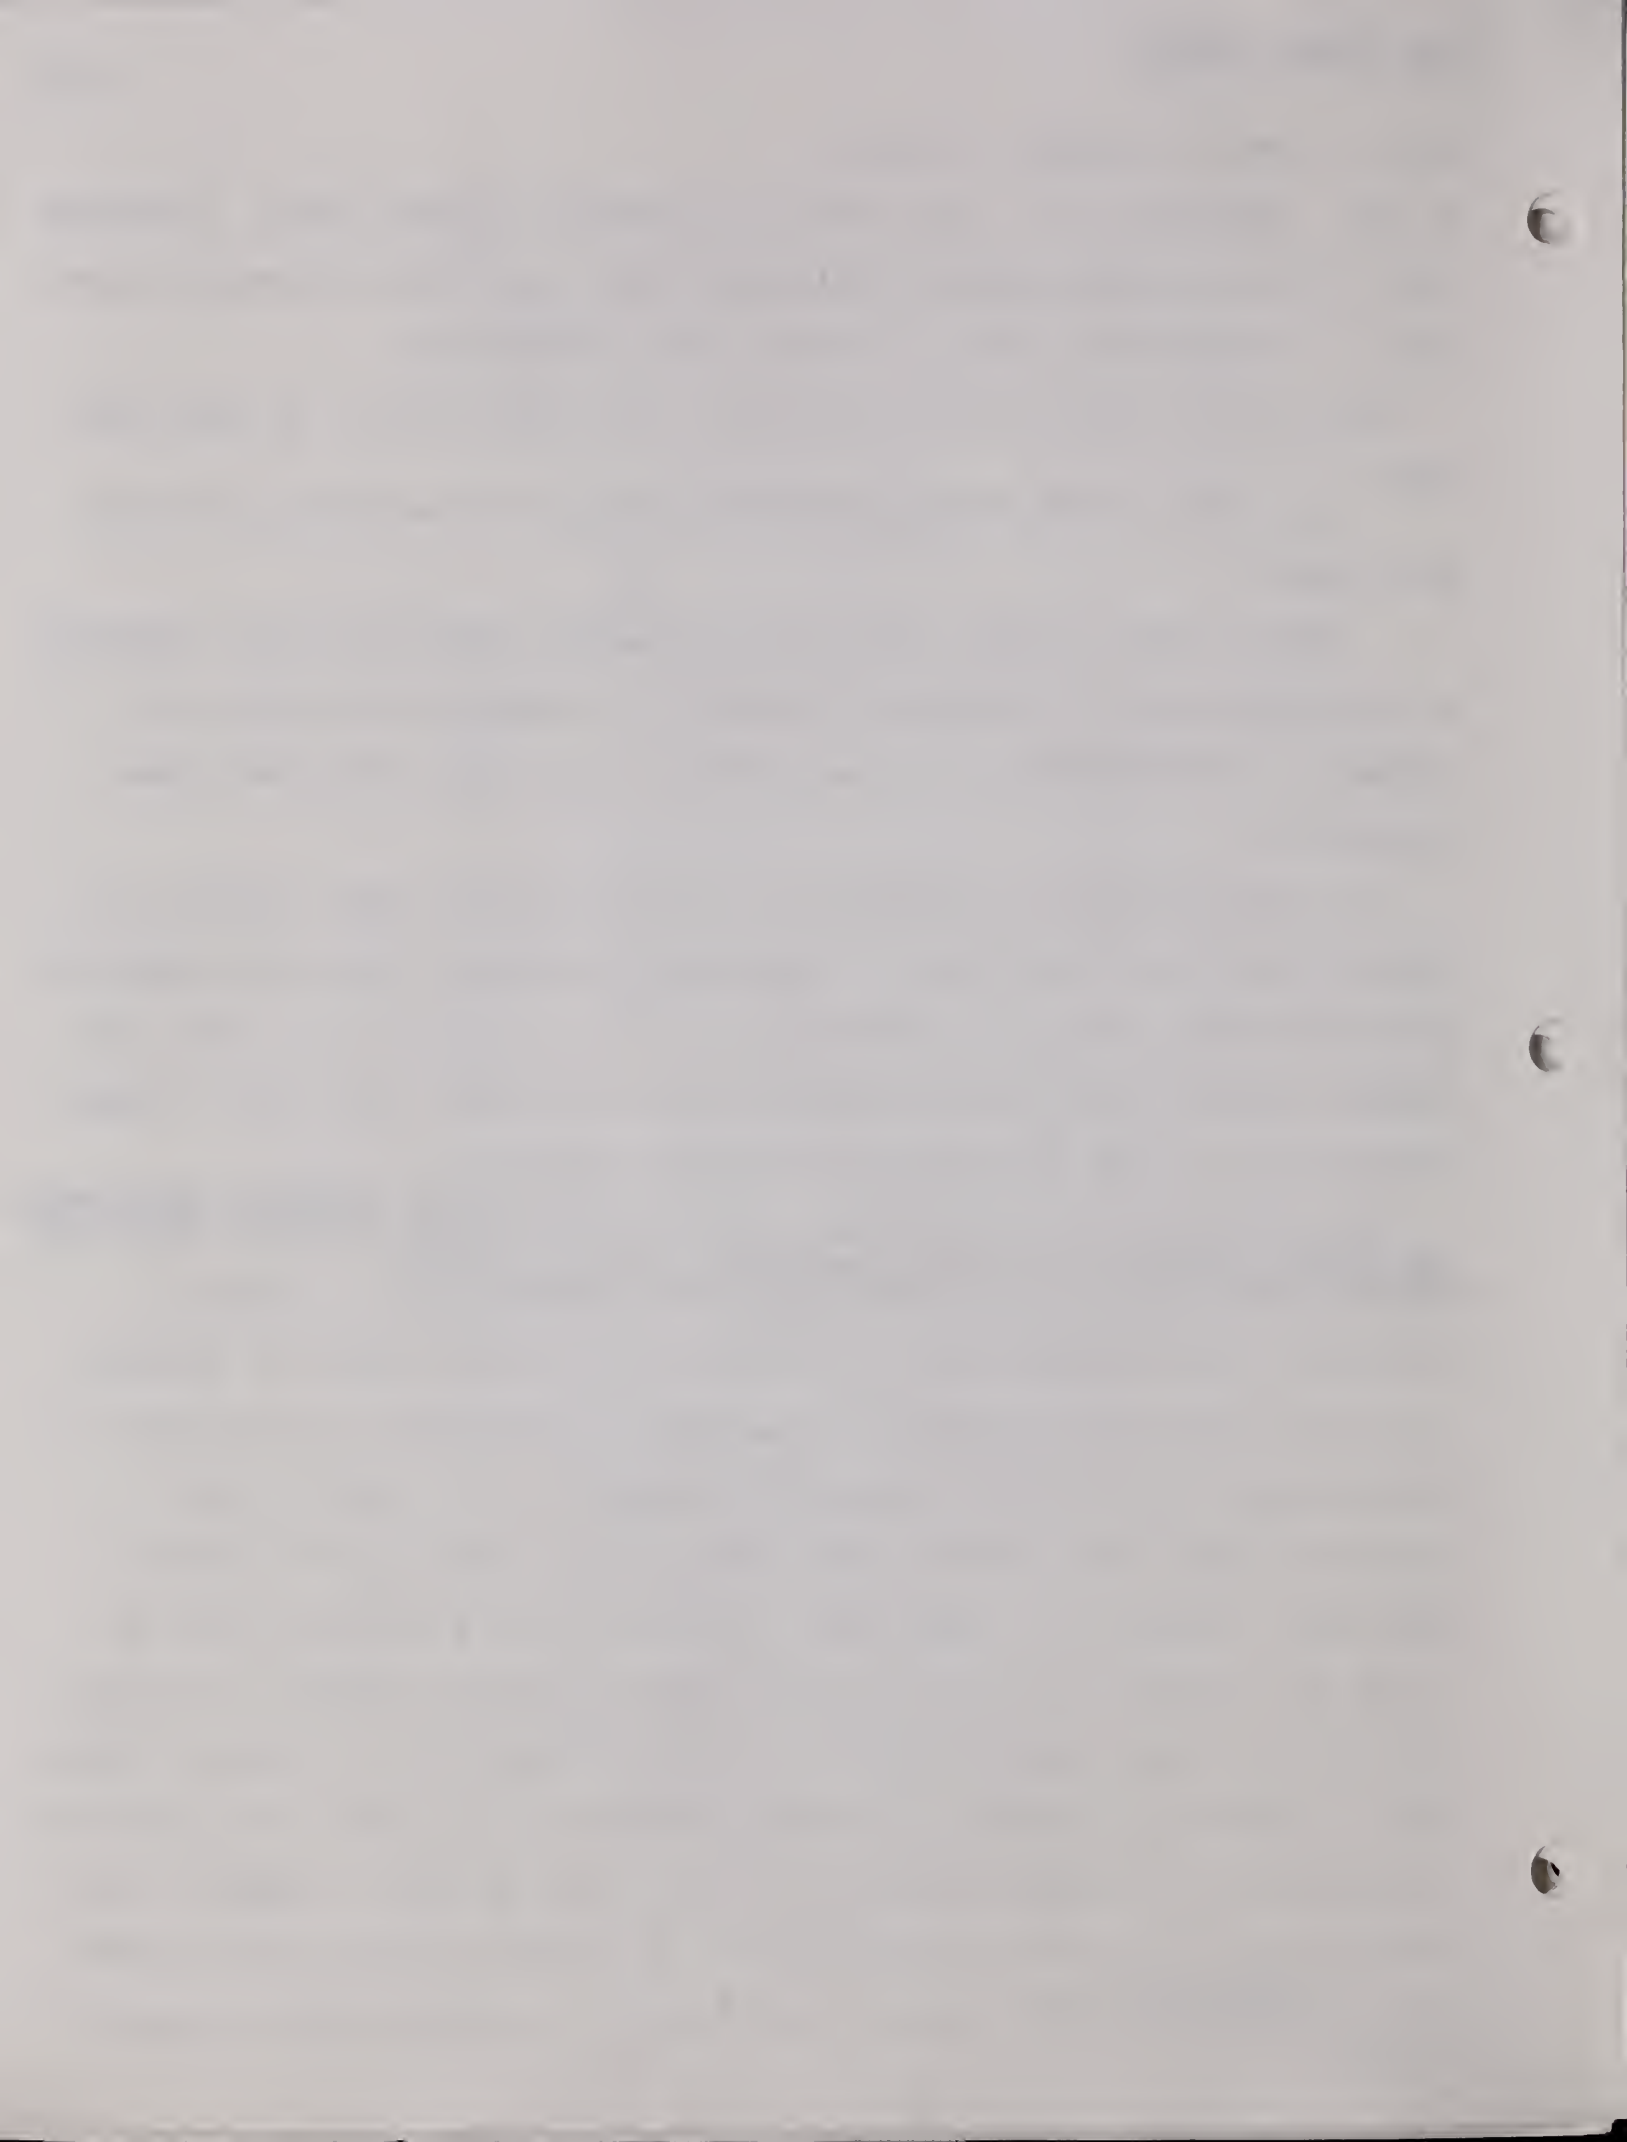

The first Town Meeting recorded, March 1656 was held in the Osgood house.

John (2) was a Capt. of Militia; Selectman; Representative 1668-90. He was imprisoned for 10 days by Andros on a dispute over taxes.( See Palfrey 's NEW ENGLAND vol. 3;page 324.) He was Sgt; Lieut; Capt. and inn holder. .

He married Mary (2) Clements and she very likely kept a record of the fact that her father was a clergyman. The Osgood Book calls him, Rev. Robert Clements. It is said that he came from London on his boat, the Clement and Job. Also that he had a brother, a Quaker, who went to Long Island. Some of the Amesbury Clements were Quakers.

Mary Clement, who was accused of witchcraft/<sup>by the children of Danvers,</sup> in the craze of 1692, and arrested by order of Dudley Bradstreet, Sept. 8, 1692, deposed that she had lived in England at Coventry with her mother, in the home of her grandmother, a relative of the former mayor of Coventry.

She testified before Hawthorne, and was so terrified, she confessed to having been a witch for 11 years. Her Husband, John , who was also scared but ~~not~~ loyal, denied her admission and said that she was all ~~not~~ right and was too frightened to know what she was saying. She recanted her confession on Oct.16, 1692, before Increase Mather, and testified that she had been browbeaten. She was released from prison at Salem with 4 others on petition of Dudley Bradstreet and others. The death of her husband was hastened by worry over her, for he died in August, four months after her release in March, 1693. The whole community was shocked over the <sup>execution</sup> ~~death~~ of Martha Allen, Sam'l Wardwell and the wife of Nathan Parker.

John (3) Osgood was a Lieut. of Militia; surveyer, 1693; constable, 1694; Deacon, 1719.

John (4) went to Concord. N.H. In 1731 the Indians killed some of the settlers and he made coffins for them. Returned to Andover and died here Nov. 23, 1765.

Ira Osgood/<sup>of London, N.H.,</sup> compiled most of the Osgood genealogy. Eben Putnam completed it and got it out, published by Salem Press, 1894. At the Osgood gathering in 1888 a vote was passed to buy the manuscript from the family of Ira. Several contributed and each got a copy of the book.

PRISCILLA EDDY
my grandmother
wrote this - signed - Priscilla Eddy Lloyd RECOLLECTIONS

My daughter Anna and Niece Julia have been urging me to write down some of the memories of the past, which otherwise will die with me. It is very difficult to do this, not knowing where to begin, what to relate and what to omit, but for their sakes I will try.

My Grandfathers, Peter and Samuel Osgood were brothers. Their father a wealthy farmer was said to own one third of Andover. His house, still a fine one, is owned by my cousin Osgood Wardwell. Moses Stevens, who married our cousin Charlott Osgood purchased some of the original farm from him called "Osgood Hill" and built a beautiful mansion on it. It was there in 1888 we had our first Osgood gathering.

Osgood Wardwell has the beautiful old family clock, chests and bureaus which my Great Grandfather bequeathed with the house to his son Timothy. He gave a fine farm also to Isaac and to my two Grandfathers. Buttonwood Cottage with the farm attached and a large store opposite.

Grandfather Peter married his cousin Hannah Porter (who had been brought up in his Father's house) and became an Importing merchant going to England and Italy himself. After Grandfather Samuel had graduated from Harvard College, being prevented by ill health from studying a profession his brother persuaded him to go into business with him, which he did for a few years, but then left for the army. Peter failed and Samuel was obliged to pay all the debts of the firm. He also bought in the farm and settled it on my Grandmother. Samuel married Patty Brandon, niece of Gov. Phillips of Andover, who died two years after. I have a letter of her Father's, Mr. Brandon. and her Grandmother Mrs. Foxcroft of Cambridge and some of her own epistles. She was unusually beautiful, after her death Samuel resided in New York. He and Rufus King kept house together for some time, until they married the same year. Samuel married Maria Bowne a Quakeress and widow of Walter Franklin.

My Grandfather became acquainted through hiring her house for Gen. Washington. It was a large double house, and after his marriage they occupied one and Washington the other. Aunt Hannah Clinton <sup>(Dewitt Clinton's sister in law)</sup> said she had seen Washington with a white cambric handkerchief, touch his horses before getting into his carriage. If there was a speck on it they were remanded to the stables. My Grandfather's carriage was similar to Washington's. Grandmother also kept her carriage and coachman. She also had her own fortune settled on her. My mother has often described to me the elegant style in which they lived. Mamy Wood was house keeper and as beloved by all the children as a near relative would be. She had a head nurse Peggy Pine and two under nurses in the nursery beside having the oversight of all the other servants. She did no menial work, only for dinner parties making puff paste, whip syllabub &.

The younger children ate with her in the nursery and my mother said after they were transferred to the parlor they considered it the greatest treat to take tea in the nursery. I do not remember Mamy Wood, but I do not remember Mamy Conner, my Aunt Hannah Clinton's housekeeper, who was the dearest loveliest old person.

I can hear her "Well dearie" in a most musical voice as she came to the parlor to kiss us all before retiring. She superintended the cooking, collected all my Aunt's rents, did all her business and was buried beside her, a handsome stone testifies that she was a faithful and devoted friend for forty years. This Aunt kept three servants who were never changed. Her husband was George Clinton, son of Gov. Clinton. Her sister married Gov. De Witt Clinton, Sallie who married John Norton was engaged to Robert Livingstone and the wedding day fixed when friends broke it off and broke her heart too. Her picture owned by George "Citizen" (married step-daughter of Samuel Osgood) Genet represents a most beautiful woman. My Grandfather Samuel adopted his nephew and namesake ('son of his brother Peter). After leaving college he took up his residence in his uncle's house and studied law with his cousin Walter Osgood. His letters which gave a delightful account of the home life there were destroyed. I have seen a few that were charmingly written to Israel Putman his classmate in college, who afterward married his sister Harriot.

Samuel was a brilliant and talented young man, a fine singer and delightful performer on the flute. His cousins also sang and played the piano so that every evening they had their family concert, whilst the Father most honored and beloved, sat at his writing table a little removed and listened and studied by turns. The girls also painted in oils, Samuel in water colors, and their mornings were passed in painting and embroidering, whilst one read aloud, "I have a white quilt which all my Aunts helped my mother to quilt, whilst my Father (Samuel) drew the patterns. So happy was this family party that the elder children when married were in the habit of coming to tea and spending the evening night after night, even after their children were numerous.

There were assemblies in those days which all the first families attended, but there was but one hair dresser. So he began the day before hand and those first served were obliged to sit up all night for fear of injuring the structure. My Aunts often did this. Washington Irving was one of the beaux of those days with whom my mother often danced. My Grandfather was always in public life and corresponded with all the great men of his time. Each of the family had their portion of those letters. Could they be collected, a most interesting life might be written, but they are all scattered, My mother had letters of Washington, Jefferson, Adams & which passed into Dr. Putman's hands and at his death were sold by his children.

My Grandfather was United States Senator, First Commissioner of the Treasury, Post Master General, and Naval Officer

The PARKER FAMILY

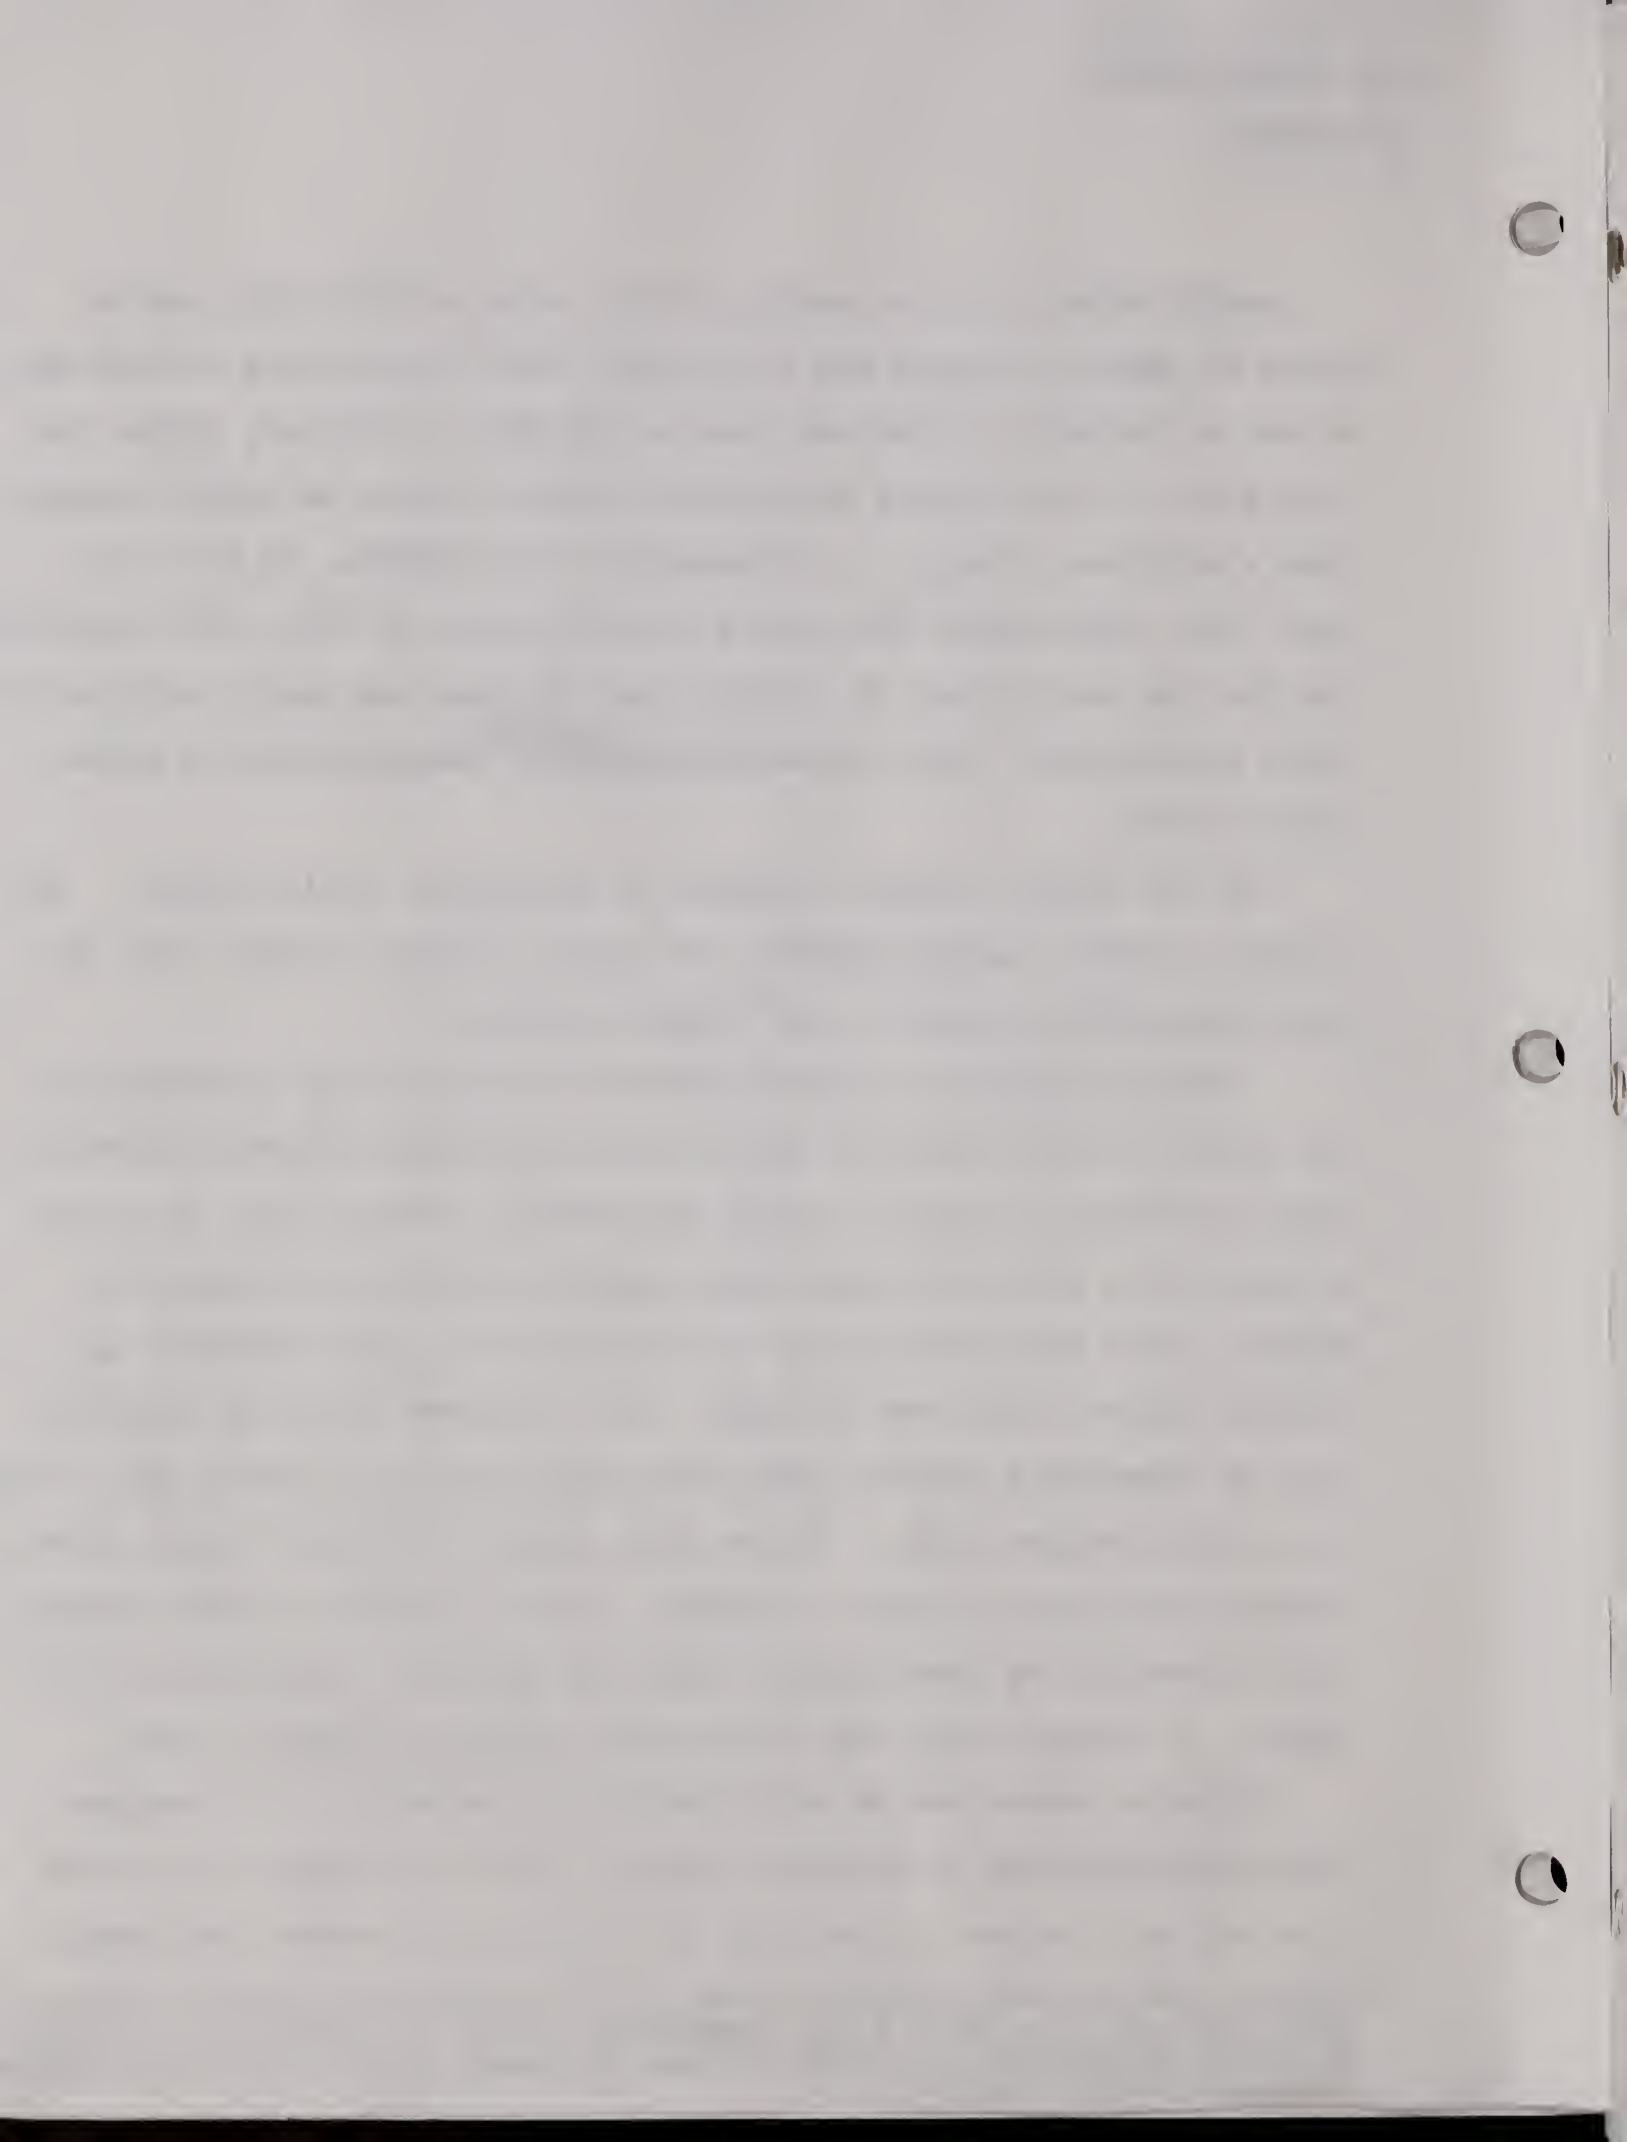

OF ANDOVER

Joseph Parker, who, according to the terms of his will, had an estate in Ramsay, England was one of the first freeholders of Andover. He was in Newbury in 1642 and came to ANDOVER in October, 1645. His estate was on the site of the present Stevens' Mill in North Andover. John's wife was a Mary-- -, presumably Mary STEVENS. In his will, made 1678, John leaves the bulk of his property to Mary, with instruction for the care of two of their sons, who are non compos mentis, "by God's providence." Mary <sup>to be</sup> ~~also declared non compos mentis in wills~~, died in 1695.

At his death, Joseph appoints as overseers of his estate, his "loving brother, NATHAN PARKER, and loving friends, Lieut. John Osgood, Ensign Henry Ingalls and Thomas Chandler."

NATHAN PARKER "the loving brother", died here in Andover, June 25, 1685. His first wife is said to have been Susan Short of Newbury, whom he married on Nov. 10, 1648; she died in Andover, Aug. 26, 1651; he took for a 2nd wife, Mary Ayer, daughter of John and Hannah of Newbury. Poor Mary was accused of witchcraft by Mercy Wardwell and William Barker, -confessed witches, - who declared that she assisted them in tormenting Timothy Swan, who died that year., (1692). (His stone is in North Parish Yard.) Ten or more of the "witches" confessed to having their astral bodies appear at the bedside of sick Timothy, and torture him by punching him with iron spindles, pins and tobacco pipes. In consequence, Mary Parker was hanged at Salem in 1692.

Nathan's estate was in North Parish on the site of the present Unitarian parsonage on Chestnut street, and at his death, the widow Mary and son John are executors. He mentions no others. He leaves a horse, hive of bees, house and barn; 17 acres of post-yard; 39 acres behind the barn; 9 on West side Shawshin; 40 acres on upland in No. Parish; 49 acres in meadows; 51 acres in Town Rights; 4 parcels of 1st Division etc. Total value £472.

Joseph(1) Parker and his wife, Mary, had:-

Josepn (2) b. m. Elizabeth Bridges in 1680; he d. 1684, leaves everything to Elizabeth, until his only son, Joseph(3) should be of age. His " dear and loving friends, Capt. Dudley Bradstreet and Capt. John Osgood" were to be overseers of the property. He died before he could sign the will, but Bradstreet and Osgood took oath that they drew up the paper three days before his death, and it held. The estate was valued at £ 402; included: Arms; Tools; Gristmill and water privileges; 60 acres over the Shawshin; 50 acres by Great Pond; 20 acres near the Shoe Meadow; 10 acres of upland by the Shawshin; an old house; barn; post-yard above the mill. Books at £ 1.

In 1686, widow ~~Mary~~ <sup>Elizabeth</sup> took for a 2nd husband, Samuel Hutchinson.

Nathan <sup>P</sup>Parker was a scrivener. Joseph was a millwright, his family holding for several generations the valuable privilege now in possession of "Moses <sup>T</sup>Stevens and Sons" in North Andover.

The wife of Joseph was non compos in her old age and one of their sons and some of the Stevens boys, sons of John(1) Stevens, whose wife called Joseph Parker "brother", were not all right. The facts, as studied in later generations, indicate that Mary Parker was born Stevens and was a sister to John Stevens. No Parker line save this one shows degeneracy and the history of the Stevens family favors the theory.

Joseph(2) Parker, the son of <sup>N</sup>Nathan(1), is usually called "inn-holder". He was a man of marked ability and character under whom the estate gained much.

Joseph (3) Parker, son of Joseph(2) <sup>N</sup>Nathan(1) married Mary Emery, who died in 1735 and he very inconsiderately married for a second wife, Martha Johnson, daughter of Timothy (3) Johnson and wife, Katherine Sprague. To sort out the children of this Martha <sup>(Johnson)</sup> from those of the Martha Barker who married his cousin Joseph, of the Joseph(1) line, has been a task.

The descendants of Joseph Parker of Barre, Mass. claim that he went to Barre from Andover. This Joseph died some place unknown to his family. He was a soldier at Bunker Hill, of which scrap the family possesses a powder-horn engraved with his record: — "CAMBRIDGE. May th 26 1775. Joseph: Parker: HIS: HORN. "

EARLY RECORDS OF THE
PEABODY FAMILY

COMPILED BY CHARLOTTE HELEN ABBOTT

The PEABODY FAMILY
OF ANDOVER.

The PEABODY family in America are lineal descendants of that ancient family whose origin Mr. Nehemiah Cleveland has traced back to the time of BOADIE, a king of a primeval race of Britons, who in A.D. 61, came to the rescue of his noble queen, Boadicea, when "bleeding from Roman rods." From the terrible defeat in which she lost her crown and life, he retreated to the Cambrian Mountains, from whose fastnesses he swept down upon the low country in frequent forays, and he and his posterity became the terror of its inhabitants.

The name "PEA", which signifies mountains, was at this time prefixed to the "BOADIE" meaning man. The name of PEABODY appears in ancient British heraldry, among the Knights of the Round Table, in the time of King Arthur.

Lieut. Francis (2) Peabody, (son of John (1)), was born in Hertfordshire, England - in St. Albans -, 1614. He came to the colonies in 1635 in the ship, "Planter", with Nicholas Ferrie, mariner. He is on the Mass. Rolls as "husbandman, age 21." He went first to Ipswich; then in 1638 he went to Hampton with twelve others, who were proprietors and founders of that settlement. He was a freeman in 1642. Hampton was set off to New Hampshire, Rockingham Co., and Francis sold out to Robert Drake, of Exeter, to move nearer Boston, March 25, 1650. The sale was of a house and 55 acres of land, for 25 £ 13 sh. With his wife, Lydia, whom he had married about 1639, he moved to Topp'sfield, where, in May 1651, he owned a farm near Richard Dorman and a Mr. Symonds. From the latter he bought more land later, and also owned lots in Rowley and Boxford.

The date of Lydia's death is unknown but Francis took for a second wife, Mary Foster, daughter of Reginald (1) Foster, after 1649. She was the widow of David Wood. She is mentioned in "Marmion" and "Lay of the Last Minstrel."

Essex Co. Deeds; Probate, etc.

Will of Francis (1) Peabody, probate at Salem, Aug. 7, 1698. ( Abstract )

"Lieut. Francis Peabody of Topsfield, Essex Co., N. England... uncertainty of life... certainty of Death.. perfect understanding and memory... ye temporal estate God in his grace has given me in this world, as followeth---

Imp... I commit my immortal soul to God and my body to a decent burial when God shall take me out of this world.

Imp.... Son John, son Joseph Peabody, all the land I bought of merchant Joseph Jewett of Rowley... lyeth in Boxford- to John two thirds-- to Joseph the other third also 5 £ each in current money added to what they have already.

Imp.... Son William land I bought of John Todd, Junior of Rowley and of John Perley (except 100 acres) and 5 £ in money added to what he had-- This I do ye rather, on consideration of his being by ye Providence of God deprived of ye use of one of his Arms.

Item- To son -in-law Daniel Wood that hundred acres of land which is excepted to my son William and already partly possessed by my son-in-law Daniel Wood which land I doe give to him and his heirs forever in consideration of what I was obliged to do for him when he came of age and provided he shall be satisfied therewith on that account and give a discharge to whom it may concern which land I have promised to make a deed of firm conveyance.

Item-- To son Isaac, all the land I doe live upon I bought of Mr. Symonds he to have land S side of Brook running through the land both upland and meadow and my dwelling house and houseing orchard, Mill and Mill-Yard- and all I bought of William Emms--also from the Bridge, all the meadow downward on NE side of the Brook which runneth through Thomas Dorman's meadow and a rod and a half of upland near it for the bringing of his hay from time to time also seventy acres on S side the River near dwelling house of Joseph Towne, Jr. Also the bed and ye furniture he now hath -- the improvement of and I to have given ye more to my son Isaac on consideration of ye Providence of God disenabling him by ye loss of one of his Leggs.

Item.. To grandchild Jacob Peabody (son of my son Jacob, dec.,) ye house his father dwelt in and all ye upland on N side of Brook and the meadow near it from the Bridge and upward. If he live to 21 he shall have the above land, but in case he do not live, my other sons may have his share- but they are to pay my grandchildren Keziah and Mercy Peabody, children of son Jacob, 120 £

If grandson Jacob have issue before he arrive at 21, said land shall be at his disposal with the house also.. Keziah and Mercy are to have 30 acres each at age of eighteen S side of the River in the SW Division beyond Endicott's Farm in the place called Sticky Meadow which I bought of Daniel Dorman In case the two die before 18, the land shall go to my next immediate children equally divided but the survivor of the two is to be heir of the other.

Item.. To son Nath'l Peabody and my grandchild Sampson Howe all that 400 acres I bought of Stephen Sewell in Rowley Village, called Boxford and land near Bradford formerly Mr. Nelson's of Rowley. Nath'l is to have 300 and Sampson 100 provided Sampson How shall be at my disposal till he is 21 In case Nath'l die without lawful issue, the 300 acres shall pass to my other children by equal division. His widow is to enjoy it for life and the moveable estate already in her possession I leave to her disposal

It is to be understood that what son Nath'l leaves undisposed of at his death of his 300 acres shall be for the use of his widow during life, that is the life of her widowhood.

Item- I doe reserve for wife Mary South end of my house to live in and the new cellar -use of two milch cows which she shall chuse out of my milch kine- Isaac is to pay her annually 20 bush.of Indian Corn- four bush.of Wheat - four of Rey- six of Mault, and liberty to keep 2 or 3 swine-- and to have yearly half a dozen pounds of Wool and a pasture for her cows with Isaac's cows, he to provide fodder for them in the winter. She is to have a horse to ride when she shall have occasion and in case she marry again these privileges shall cease-- During her widowhood she shall also have yearly benefit of orchard, of cyder and some apples as her occasions summer and winter shall require. She shall have use and disposal of 2 beds and needful firewood provided for her and the use of such part of the barn as is needful Sampson How shall live with my wife till 21 and to be at her command to be helpful on all accounts. In case he is taken away by his father before he hath served to 21 my wife shall have the 100 acres of land given conditionally to Sampson, to provide for herself such help as shall be necessary If my wife die before Sampson comes of age he shall go to whosoever she shall see good to appoint for rest of term of service, and if he does not comply the 100 acres shall be at her disposal.

Item- Daughter Lydia Perley 5 £ added to her portion.

Item-Daughter Mary Death 5 £ added.

Item- Daughter Sarah Howe 5 £ added.

Item- Daughter Hephzibah Ray 5 £ added.

These legacies to be paid in Common Currant Pay by my executors out of my estate which I do leave in son Isaac's hands and in my wife's hand- in corn or cattle after my debts and funeral expenses are paid

Finally I appoint wife Mary executrix with my sons John and Isaac Peabody executors and if any estate be left after all is paid it shall be divided as my executors shall see good.

The PEABODY FAMILY

( Included in C.H.A.'s compilation was the following, which seemed of sufficient charm to warrant inclusion in the family record.)

From " In Portia"s Garden", by Kennedy.

" In proof of the entire absence of antagonism between English Sparrows and wrens(native) I should say I never saw the least disagreement among them. There was room for all and all were happy. The wrens could roll up their sleeves and polish off Johnny Bull at any moment; the Johnnies had found this out and there was peace.

"My first identification of a bird was one of the earliest Spring arrivals- the White -throated Sparrow, called in Canada, la siffleur (the Whistler)- in the United States, the Peabody bird. One might call him the Little Jinnie from his whistling. I did not hear the bird's song for a few days, but one morning was awakened by a new six notes fluting under my window. Sometimes the stave had only three or four notes. But the next morning the solution came. It was the White-throat, for, after a few broken bars and experiments, came clear and sweet the 'Sam Peabody, Peabody, Peabody', of his delicate little quill, repeated again and again as if the bird were proud of having discovered his song and wanted to repeat it until he was sure of it.

"But what on earth did the daft little bush-fool mean by his 'Peabody'? What's Peabody to him or he to Peabody? The members of that family that I have known in different parts of the country are pious, clean bodied and clean souled, eminently respectable ... and whaleboned people. Conformity, conventionality and stubborn conservatism, are the family traits. The bird is shy; they are the reverse of that. "
